Western Refining Conan Gathering, LLC announces an Open Season for a proposed approximately 130 mile crude oil gathering pipeline from origin points in Lea County, New Mexico and Loving County, Texas to destination points at a terminal to be constructed in Loving County, Texas (the "Conan Crude Oil Gathering Pipeline System"). The Open Season will commence on May 30, 2017.

The Open Season provides an opportunity for potential shippers to support the Conan Crude Oil Gathering Pipeline System by making volume commitments for an initial seven year term.

Highlights of Open Season

- Phase I of the Conan Crude Oil Gathering Pipeline System will be deemed to provide capacity of 246,000 barrels per day. Up to 90% of this deemed capacity will be made available to shippers during the Open Season for volume commitments.
- The Conan Crude Oil Gathering Pipeline System is expected to be in commercial service in June, 2018.
- Committed shippers would be permitted to ramp their volume commitments up and down over the term, subject to certain parameters.
- Subject to regulatory approval, the committed volumes and, if there is sufficient available capacity, incremental volumes of committed shippers would not be subject to prorationing under ordinary operating conditions, as long as at least 10% of the deemed capacity of the Conan Crude Oil Gathering Pipeline System is available for uncommitted volumes.
